

Busatti

All I want for Christmas...

Established in 1842, Busatti represents an eight-generation Italian family dynasty crafting handmade textiles and fabrics presented by the metre and used to create exquisite pieces for the home. Devoted clientele include Miuccia Prada, Valentino and Giorgio Armani.

Recently featured in "101 things to buy before you die" the range includes luxurious essentials for the table, kitchen, bathroom, bedroom and nursery along with beautiful ballet shoes & handbags crafted in the Prada workrooms. The boutique also offers a bespoke design service and exclusively showcases the limited edition Boucher & Co museum quality Art Deco furniture.
